MAKING THE BEST OF IT What a dreary day this is! said the old gray goose to the brown hen. They stood at the henhouse window and watched the falling snow. It covered every nook and corner of the farmyard. Yes, indeed, said the brown hen; I would be almost willing to be made into chicken pie on such a day. She had scarcely stopped talking, when the Pekin duck said fretfully: I am dreadfully hungry. Then a little flock of speckled chickens all huddled together peeped: And we are so thirsty! In fact, the feathered folks in the henhouse were cross and discontented. Since the farmer s boy had fed them, early in the morning, they had been given nothing to eat or drink. Hour after hour went by. The cold winter wind howled around their house. It is no wonder that they felt deserted. The handsome white rooster, though, seemed quite as happy as usual. That is saying a great deal, for a jollier, betternatureed old fellow than he never lived in a farmyard. Sunshine, rain, or snow were all the same to him. He crowed quite as lustily in stormy as in fair weather. Well, he said, as his bright eyes glanced about the henhouse, you all seem to be having a fit of the dumps. Nobody answerd the white rooster, but a faint cluck or two came from some hens. At once they put their heads back under their...
